HAWAIIAN BOYS WHO LEFT ISLANDS FOR OUTSIDE WORLD ARE 'MAKING GOOD' ALL OVER MAINLAND

A. L. C. Atkinson Brings Back News of Former Residents Who Have Not Been Heard of For Years-Many Have Gone on Stage or in Musical Com-

A. L. C. Atkinson foregathered with a number of former Hawaiian resiuents during his recent stay on the mainland. Even in the thick of the campaign, when Mr. Atkinson was striking valiant blows for the Bull Moose cause at headquarters in New York, he found time to look up a lot of Hawaiian boys. He has collected the information thus gained and brought it back to Hawaii. The result is remarkable. Scores of young Hawaifans who went to the mainland and have never been heard of since have been made good in varied lines. Among the names mentioned below are some that have been almost forgotten here for years.

By A. L. C. ATKINSON.

The Hawaiian music boys are doing splendid work in advertising Hawaii. They have played in every city of importance, especially through the Middle West, and invariably they have become favorites. In fact they are represented in almost every line of musical entertainment and they are "making good."

Willie and Jack Ellis are now the king-pins in New York City! It means a great deal to "land" in that big place but those boys have done it. When I left New York, the Hawaiians were the rage. The hardest line with which to make a success is carbaret work. Will, who has developed into a mighty capable orchestra leader, has jumped into this line and is a big card. Jack is recognized as one of the very best lad singers in the Metropolis. At present they have two companies at work in leading cafes and are planning to have a third. Will told me that he expected to put his crowd into "Little Hungary." This is one of the biggest show places of New York City. Anybody "seeing New York," always goes there. # BACK FROM MAUI

After a very successful tour of Maui, the members of the cast and the coaches of "The Revolving! Wedge," the play given by the soudents of the College of Hawaii, returned to Honolulu this morning on | the Mauna Kea from Lahaina. The play was presented on four different nights before appreciative auditness and their work was better, it was said, than that cone in Honolulu recently. The members of the company left Honolulu on the Claudine, Friday, December 27th, and arrived at Kahului on Saturday morning, after a rather rough trip. Part of the company was entertained during their stay in that part of Maui by Mrs. Aiken and her son, Dr. Aiken, at their home in Kahului and Lig Bill Manase, who was formerly off without a single hitch.
